Brothers of Bataan Heroes Raise $500 for Red Cross in Carmel Benefit Dance

Monterey Peninsula Filipino Community presented the Red Cross with a check for $583 Wednesday. The community, which musters only 60 members drawn from Carmel, the Highlands, Monterey and Pacific Grove, raised the sum at a ball given Saturday night in the Carmel Girl Scout House.

Careful preparation and skillful management accounts for the striking success of the event. Formal invitations were sent to friends in other Filipino communities, and the night of the dance found 200 visitors from San Francisco, Oakland, Watsonville, Salinas, crowding into the brightly lighted rooms of the Girl Scout house, looking forward to an evening of entertainment, and glad to know that the price they had paid for their bids, and the money they were spending for the flowers the attractive Filipina girls, Mrs. Mary Yavan, Mrs. Caridad Gonzales and Miss Sally Codera, were selling, would go to the Red Cross as a gesture and a symbol of their desire to do something to help their countrymen, in many cases their friends and relatives, fighting courageously beside the American forces in the Philippines.

The dance was opened formally by Miss Pacita Todtod, lovely and popular Filipina girl, and H. A. Burgers. Mr. and Mrs. Burgers, Americans who have long taken a friendly interest in the local Filipino community, were present as guests of honor. Mr. Burgers was a planter in the Philippines for 30 years before making his home in Carmel.

The Filipino orchestra from Salinas provided the music.

RED CROSS GETS OWN BUILDING

The Red Cross will begin alterations within a few days on the Edward Burnham building, third north from Eighth on the east side of Dolores.

Dr. G. H. Taubles announces that negotiations for the purchase of the two-story building by the Red Cross are virtually complete.

Men Turning Out for Telfer Plays Next at Highlands

Humorous and sophisticated, the play readings by Ronald Telfer, presented by the Women's Auxiliary of the Carmel American Legion, are proving increasingly popular, especially with the men, a number of whom are turning out regularly to attend the performances.

The next reading, set for Sunday at Highlands Inn, is a new play, light, funny and of wide general interest, according to Mrs. M. J. Peterson, who has charge of arranging the program. It will begin at 2:30. Refreshments will be served following the reading, and proceeds from the ticket sale will go to the Auxiliary's Child Welfare Fund.

Hostesses: Mrs. Rush Wallace, Mrs. D. H. Hand, Mrs. W. Ray Moore, Mrs. Weaver Kitchen and Mrs. Herbert Landis.

EXTRA LEGAL BOTANIST

Two of the ornamental trailing fuschias which did hang from the eaves of the Mayfair House were reported stolen Wednesday morning. Police are investigating with the theory that they were taken by the same someone who has been collecting other people's potted plants for four months.

DANCE CHAIRMAN

Above, Dan G. Concepcion of Carmel, who supervised the Red Cross dance held at Girls Scout house. He has three uncles, a lieutenant colonel, and two lieutenants, in the fighting forces in the Philippines. Right, Miss Pacita Todtod, president of the Filipino Community of Santa Clara county, who opened the dance here Saturday. She was the Queen of the Filipino Participation of the 1939 Golden Gate Exposition, and is present city editor of the Philippines Mail of Salinas.

Local Artist Wins Tile Mural Award

Henry Varnum Poor, who has been painting quietly in the Highlands all winter, has won the $5000 competition for a tile mural in the new Chicago post office.

He left Carmel yesterday.

He took with him 24 large paintings of the Carmel seashore and 10 little ones. While here he also painted a portrait of Erik Short, 10-year-old son of Marie Short.

During his seven months on the Pacific coast, Mr. Poor made one of his famous tile murals in the Fresno courthouse.

A member of the National Academy and probably one of the best known of American artists, he states that he only began ceramic work when he was unable to maintain himself on the income from his painting.

He became interested in ceramics after seeing an exhibit of Cretan pottery 25 years ago.

Mr. Poor's daughter, Ann, is also a painter and is versed, likewise, in the making of tile murals. She will leave soon to do one in Tennessee.

Girl Scouts Start Vegetable Plot

Bill Askew, superintendent of streets, took his road plow over to Sixth and Junipero Tuesday and plowed up the ground in which Carmel Girl Scouts will plant their super scientific Victory garden.

Everything is now ready for the planting. The girls have voted on their favorite vegetable varieties. First to go in the ground will be carrots, lettuce, radishes, string beans, peas and onions. The Brownies, under Mrs. John Muddock, and Troops 4 and 10, led by Miss Joan Tait and Mrs. Kalmen Saper, have been up to lay out their plots. Mrs. Edith H. Brattin, their gardening counselor, is prepared to advise them and, through (Continued on page 4)

BIG DAY! KITE DAY! KID'S DAY! PARADE, RIBBONS, SKINNED KNEES WHOOPS! EVERYBODY IS COMING

Tomorrow is Big Day for those Carmel dwellers who have the knack to put together string and sticks, and paper and paste, and make them fly. Kite Festival! Big day for kids, and for as many adults, who can horn in on the flimsy excuse they are "helping" Jimmy.

Everything starts at 1:15 o'clock with the parade from Sunset grounds. Be there with your kite, and if you are a child, and aren't riding in the family car with Mom and Pop and their kites, you can pile in one of the two city trucks that will be there with sideboards on to hold all the load of kids and kites.

The parade goes down Ninth and up Ocean, and winds up at the

Cascarones Revitalize Art Gallery

With a burst of music, the Carmel Art Gallery sprang into new life last Friday evening.

Clapping feet patted out the steps of early California dances as the Cascarone Club awakened the Gallery with its gaiety. This group of social and lyric-minded Peninsulians enjoyed the Gallery, and the picture-bedecked, handsomely lighted, seldom-visited Gallery brightened up with the spontaneity of the Cascarones.

This new way to have fun with the Art Gallery was discovered by Stanley Greeb, president of the Cascarones, and his committee made up of Mrs. Frank Bell, Mrs. Lester Krumboltz and Ernest Bixler. Some 20 of their dancing friends came to tap and twirl through the Spanish waltzes, Sicilian circles, Virginia reels and congas.

Tonight music will sound again through the galleries, chamber music played for the Gallery's public-meet-the-artists evening. Everyone in town is invited to attend, Elizabeth Cass announces. The Gallery will be open at 8 o'clock and the music will commence towards 9.

An excellent phonograph is being brought to the Gallery and on it you will hear a program selected by Mrs. Clines Nielson, "Emperor Quartet", Haydn; "Florelle Quintet", Schubert; "Divertimento No. 10", Mozart; and "Quartet in G Minor", Debussy.

Fire Damages Highlands Home

Fire broke out Monday in the Highlands home of Louise Gibben and Julia Parks and destroyed most of a bedroom.

The Highlands Fire Department led by Assistant Chief Mark Tibbetts and Job Victorine, extinguished the blaze and saved the rest of the house.

Pine Cone Moving Day

Today is moving day at The Pine Cone.

If you want to come and see us Saturday or any day thereafter, you will find us on that side of the Western Union office instead of this side.

The Civilian Defense is taking itself off to its new quarters in Kip's building on Sixth street, and we are moving in where they were. And it isn't as tremendous an undertaking as it might appear at first glance, because all we're moving are desks and typewriters and filing cabinets. The big and little presses, the linotype machine, the paraphernalia of the job shop and newspaper plant are staying in the same place as always. It's only the "front office" that is switching, and that switch is not out of sight or sound of the mechanical department, but from one room to another in the same building. So you won't have much trouble finding us.

And no trouble at all phoning us, for it's still the traditional, time-honored, Carmel 2.

THE DOGS DO BARK

"Spring, with her golden suns and silver rain, Is with us once again." So if your PRINCE or ROVER fails to appear for dinner one of these balmy evenings, and hasn't returned by breakfast time, don't become alarmed and think he has been run over, or dognapped by some lonesome soldier. The chances are he has heard the Call of Spring and is off somewhere following his fancy. He'll be back, full of sighs, with a preoccupied air and a dreamy look in his eyes.

Ah Spring!

MISCAN (PINKBOW) Fraser is a bit curious as to the identity of her latest admirer. He is a good-looking stranger with a long handsome tail with a white tip on the end and a charming smile. He sat on the corner in front of Fraser Looms and gazed soulfully at MISCAN through the window for some time while she pretended to ignore him. Finally he could stand it no longer. He trotted boldly up to the Dutch door, put his paw on the latch and fairly burst into the shop, grinning from ear to ear, furiously wagging his handsome tail.

"Pardon me, but haven't we met some place before?" inquired the stranger.

"Do you belong to the 107th?" MISCAN asked.

"No," replied the stranger.

MISCAN eyed him coldly. "Then I don't believe we've met. They are the only strangers to whom I speak," MISCAN sniffed daintily and turned her head away as the crestfallen stranger was ushered from the shop.

Two minutes later, down went the latch and in he bounded again. "Are you quite sure we haven't met before?" he asked hopefully.

"Quite," was MISCAN'S icy reply, as the stranger was ushered out for the second time.

"He really was quite attractive," mused MISCAN after he had gone. "I wonder who he was? Maybe we had met some place before."

That pretty little redhaired charmer, PATSY Henderson, celebrated her seventh birthday on March 27. She had a party and a beautiful cake with pink candy roses on it and pink candles, and all of her best beaux to help her eat it. A lovely time was had by all and PATSY was showered with gifts and greetings. In fact it was all so very pleasant that PATSY says she can hardly wait for her eighth birthday!

Just be patient, PATSY, and meanwhile, "Many happy returns of the day."

Young Marcia Kuster tells this amusing story about the Kuster's well known Springer, SKIPPY.

One day not long ago, Marcia and SKIPPY were listening to the radio. SKIPPY was half asleep on the floor with his head on his paws when the announcer began reading his commercial singing the praises of "Skippy Peanut Butter." SKIPPY caught the sound of his name, picked up his ear attentively and cocked an eye at the radio. When the announcer said "Skippy Peanut Butter" again, SKIPPY jumped to his feet and excitedly began looking around for the mysterious voice that apparently was calling him. The announcer mentioned "Skippy Peanut Butter" for the third time, and SKIPPY leaped right up on top of the radio, barking at the top of his lungs.

Mrs. Bestor Arrives as Story Writer

Constance Bestor bids fair to be Carmel's most successful short story writer at the present time.

She has a story coming out soon in the American Magazine and another, about the Middle West, in This Week.

During the past year, Mrs. Bestor has been published by Cosmopolitan, Liberty and Mademoiselle.

This Week has written her for an autobiography and a photograph.

Carmel's Adult School may regard Mrs. Bestor with special pride for this time a year ago she was a member of the short story writing class.

Mrs. Bestor lives with her two children in Hatton Fields. Her husband, George, has been called to service with the Army.

HORSE AND BUGGY BACK—

Misses Edna and Dorothy Deakin heard a strange creaking sound the other morning.

They looked out and saw a young couple calmly driving behind a sulkey.

The buggy was traced to the Lynn Hodges stable where it was learned three sulkeys are being kept in almost constant use these days and Mr. Hodges is repairing others and trying to find new ones to meet the demand.

Sprouse Reitz Store to Open Here Saturday

Especially designed to blend into its Carmel setting, the Sprouse Reitz store beside the Carmel Dairy will open its doors tomorrow.

Hugh Comstock and John Neikirk have softened the greens and creams of the exterior to harmonize with the seaside colorings and have carried the same delicacy of tone into the interior in light gray and pale green. Combined with the tasteful appearance is the latest plan for an efficient, self-help store. The Carmel branch will be the largest and most up-to-date of the five Sprouse Reitz stores on the Peninsula.

George W. Meldrim, the district manager, says he hopes to bring to Carmel people the best of service and in that way return the goodwill which has made his years on the Peninsula so pleasant and successful. He and Mrs. Meldrim came here in 1925 to manage a single Sprouse Reitz store on Alvarado street, Monterey.

Now they are presenting to Carmel Mr. and Mrs. Burt L. Cicero as the first managers of the new Sprouse Reitz unit.

KIP SILVEY PHILOSOPHIZES

Wednesday Kip Silvey was standing out in the sun on Sixth street behind his market talking about how supplies of this and that were running low and how pretty soon you would forget what cans of beer look like.

He glanced down in time to see a small dog with a large package of meat pattering away from his delivery wagon.

Kip and standers-by gave chase up San Carlos and around the corner into Fifth street. But the little dog eluded them and lost himself in the woods with four pounds of meat.

Robert Stanton Will Barbecue Steaks for Chest Directors

The board of directors of the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest is having a barbecue luncheon tomorrow with President Robert Stanton cooking the steaks himself.

Kit Khitman, chairman of the executive board and program chairman, has announced Mrs. Henry Potter Russell, chairman of the San Francisco Community Chest campaign, as the guest speaker.

The directors and their wives have been invited, also some special guests. Reservations have already been received for over 50 people for the barbecue to be held in Memory Garden, Pacific House, Monterey. Among these are: Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Gross, Mr. Frank Shea, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. B. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Godwin, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Veit, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thorn, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Shepard, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William O'Donnell, Mrs. A. G. E. Hanke, Mrs. Edna Herloffsen, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Work, Captain O'Dell, Mr. and Mrs. Roudi Partridge.

Memory Garden is an agency of the Chest, and the girl scouts and boy scouts will wait on table and assist with the turning of the steaks, etc.

Back Bone Chiller Slated for Tonight

Two highly contrasting films occupy the screen of Carmel Theater tonight and tomorrow. "Never Give a Sucker an Even Break" is a typical W. C. Fields comedy, the screen play having been written by Fields himself. As star of the picture he is surrounded by an unusually well chosen cast. The companion feature, "Wolf Man", will provide delicious shudders for those whose nerves are not jumpy and whose consciences are reasonably clear. It boasts one of the best casts ever assembled for a chiller-diller, including Claude Rains, Lon Chaney, Bela Lugosi, Warren William, Ralph Bellamy, Evelyn Ankers and Maria Ouspenskaja. Tomorrow's matinee should attract the youngsters for miles around.

Sunday's continuous show introduces a three-day run of "Nothing But the Truth", a first-rate comedy with Bob Hope, Paulette Goddard and Edward Arnold. Other attractive names in the cast are those of Helen Vinson, Glenn Anders and Leif Erickson. The story of the film concerns a bet of $10,000 made by friends of Bob Hope that he cannot tell the unvarnished truth for 24 consecutive hours.

This seemingly simple task brings on complications of the most hilarious sort. Next Wednesday and Thursday, April 1 and 2, Carmel Theater will offer a strong double bill, "The Lady Is Willing", with Marlene Dietrich and Fred MacMurray, and "The Body Disappears", a high-powered comedy mystery. In the former film Miss Dietrich demonstrates her fine talent as comedienne as well as a strong dramatic actress, with Fred MacMurray acquitting himself with more than usual distinction.

Tokio Neighbors Reunited—

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Dear have as their house guest this week a former next door neighbor in Tokio, Miss Ann Rasmussen.

Ann was born ten years ago on Corregidor. She speaks Japanese fluently.

WHOOOPS! LOOK WHO'S COMIN'

Arrived yesterday on the back of a gaudy and be-utiful postal card with a picture of Mt. Silver-ton as "seen from the million-dollar highway, Colorado", the following good news:

"On Western tour now. Hope to reach Carmel early. May or late April. Loving the West."

Aloha,
DON BLANDING.

To the Editor

The Carmel Pine Cone,
Editor:

A lot of the men who come to Carmel from the Army camps are curious to see this section, which they have heard about for so many years.

They like our town, people and our different ways. They say so when they drop in at the Carmel USO club which is in the Legion building on Dolores Street between 8th and 9th.

They came to the tune of 500 last Sunday, in and out all day. Some danced. Some had been down to the beach, and dropped in for a cup of coffee, tea or chocolate, with a tasty sandwich, a doughnut, a piece of cake or cookies, made and given by our Carmel ladies. Some come to write a letter home, sit in front of the fire place and talk or read. Others gathered to sing in a group.

The USO in Carmel furnishes two hostesses and these two are augmented by senior and junior hostesses who volunteer their services.

The grand people of this section supply the delicious food, which is served in a very tempting manner.

But, to handle all these men, keep them happy, (and don't forget some are away from home for the first time,) the Carmel USO needs more equipment, so, will you good folks look about your store rooms and see if you haven't some of the following items:

They need a pretty good piano, about which they can gather and sing in groups. Now and then one of these fellows will arrive who has done concert piano work. A victrola is needed to dance by, and some symphony records to listen to. A steel guitar, floor lamps, some coffee tables, for coffee and ash trays. They could use a vacuum cleaner. They love parlor games, and Badminton sets. A lot of the boys read, they need some books, and magazines, late ones like you and I like to look at.

Lets see what Carmel can do to make ours one of the outstanding USO clubs. We are off to a good start. Lets keep her going.

—Jim Cooke.

Negotiated Peace Not Solution Now Poytress States

By J. W. GETSINGER

His concept of several post-war worlds was described by Dr. William H. Poytress in a Carmel Forum lecture on Monday evening. That the main business in hand is the winning of the war, was emphasized by the speaker, who expressed it as his firm belief that Germany will be either crushed or that it will collapse, and that Japan will be beaten, possibly before Germany is.

Poytress discussed the other possibility, that of a negotiated peace, and pointed out some of the consequences that such a peace would bring. Assuming the victory of the United Nations, he stated that the United States would probably find itself in a dominant position, partially because of its food reserves, partially because of its industrial strength. He expects that other dominant powers will be Russia, China and the British Commonwealth, with India as one of the nations.

On these will fall the task of policing the world for the transition period, and on their good will, sound planning, and stability the prosperity of the world will rest. He says that the new peace, to be successful, must be dynamic and continuous. It is necessary to strive and work for peace, and no solution can be expected to be permanent, it must be continuously revised as new problems arise.

Poytress advocates some form of federation, which must be binding and must be enforced. He would prefer that separate bodies deal with areas of responsibility, such as one for agricultural problems, another for health, etc., with one coordinating council.

Children Applaud Marco Polo Show

By JUNE PETTY

Kublai Khan, his resplendent court and his whirling dancers, have passed over the stage and now it is dark again, but in the minds and hearts of 400 wide-eyed Carmel children the brilliance will not fade. Although the antics of Ching, the loyal friend of the Polos, will still stir mirth and hilarious imitation, the adventurous spirit of young Messer Marco Polo will still cause blood to run a little faster; and the cringing servility of Bartolo Polo will continue to rouse hisses on other stages, the Carmel children will remember. Those in the audience last Fri-

EDITORIALS

AGAIN, AGAIN—AND YET AGAIN

There is an editorial that turns up every year along with Spring and the tourist invasion. It is conscientiously written, religiously read and immediately forgotten.

If it inspires nobody to action, why write it?

Because it has become a community habit, part of Carmel life, and who am I, new to this groove, to disappoint the readers and outrage the city leaders by breaking with tradition and omitting the Pine Cone perennial.

Here it is:

The merchants want to know what the police department is going to do about the parking situation in the shopping area this summer. Mr. Bernard Rowntree, speaking in his capacity as police commissioner, comes right back at the merchants and asks what are the merchants going to do about the parking situation this summer.

Now we come to the part so familiar we could all sing it in our sleep:

Mr. Rowntree: "The police department will not put up parking limit signs unless it can enforce the law. It cannot enforce the law unless it hires an extra man to devote all his time to the job."

But, whoops! here is a variation to the old tune. Instead of, "We can't afford to hire an extra man," this year we have, "We can't get a new man because of the war."

Chorus: (The police department, Mr. Rowntree, and the Pine Cone, all singing together) "If the merchants wouldn't park their own cars in front of their own places of business all day, there would be some parking for customers."

And now it is written, and nobody, least of all the merchants who are vitally concerned, will do anything about it, because it is asking entirely too much of the merchants to leave their cars at home and walk, or to park their cars a few blocks from the business district and walk.

Why should they? They always have taken up the parking themselves, blocking out potential customers, why shouldn't they go on taking up the parking themselves, blocking out potential customers. Parking is a police department problem.

HAVE YOU A PIANO IN YOUR ATTIC?

Jim Cooke wrote us a letter. Read it in the Letters to the Editor Column. He asks for some articles that are needed for the comfort and entertainment of the soldiers who visit Carmel USO house. And because he isn't asking for several hundred dollars in the grand manner Carmel is accustomed to being approached for contribution to worthy causes, because he isn't saying, "Let's put this drive over with a bang," because his requests are so modest, they are likely to be overlooked altogether.

He is asking for a few items that you might have lying loose around in your attic—games, phonograph records, coffee tables, bridge lamps. Have a look, and if you do have any of the above articles stored away, dust them off and let Jim Cooke know about them. Or call the Pine Cone.

A piano is also needed. I don't suppose one will turn up in an attic, so why doesn't someone put on a good lousy play and sell tickets. We'll all go and get our money's worth booing, and the proceeds will go for a piano so the boys in uniform can gather around and get hot on This Boogie-Woogie-Piggie Went to Market.

If you don't like that, think up something else, but we certainly should find a piano somewhere. A town that has adopted a "Let's have fun" program for the summer, couldn't find a better place to initiate the movement than in the USO house.

POETRY

TO A WHITE GULL . .

Go quickly white gull, flutter no longer
In the wire cage or in the strong fingers—
God-speed! . . . Though I have loved the white feathers,
By no intent can I possess the wing
Or the wild throat: freedom alone has claim,
This, and the bright air. Though I have loved you
Better my wide eyes lose you to heaven,
Than my hand bind you. Up, up now—vanish!
The green sea is calling your shadow. Lift
The white wing—Oh I dare not possess you!

—WILLIS EBERMAN

NOW LILAC BLOOMS AGAIN

Why is it that the scent of lilac brings
Remembrances of dim and long-lost Springs?
The drowsy twittering of one lone thrush
Can stab the pulses and the eerie hush
Of dawn and dusk betray an aching throat
More surely than the echo of a note
Of immemorial music from the stars?

Springtime and youth are Eden avatars
Betraying age into a fools' abyss:
When youth is done Spring is a Judas-kiss,
And memory a treacherous ambushade.

Now lilac blooms again, be wary, heart;
This beauty wears delight—but wields a blade.

—MARION DOYLE

HILLS AT EVENING

On the hills where dusk is creeping
Flowers close their eyes for sleeping,
And the night that is to follow
Waits above each ridge and hollow.

Cottonwoods dream near the river
Flowing dark through reeds that quiver
In the wind that lays the grasses
Gently over as it passes.

Thrush and quail are seeking cover
In the thicket, where they hover
Breast to breast as though together
They would be a single feather.

Rocks that pale in moonlight places
Know the feel of furry faces
Peering round their shrouded shoulders . . .
Danger walks between the boulders.

Hosts of stars file up the canyons
Reveling as night's companions—
Seeming drawn in countless number
To the dark hills lost in slumber.

—THIRZA MARTIN

TEMPEST

Cast me on a wind-swept reef,
Where I can scatter all my grief.

Bid the master of the gale
To lash the wave and lift the sail.

Drive my spirit, crest of fire,
Piercing heaven like a spire!

FICTION

WITHOUT BEATING THE DRUM

With the more glamorous war work of the Red Cross, USO and Civilian Defense attracting public attention, we are in danger of forgetting that the Legion Auxiliary women are still at their old post taking care of their own—our own, here in Carmel, and are expending as much energy and time to maintain their child welfare program this year of the war as in the less distracting times preceeding.

For six years, since their post was first organized in Carmel, the women of the Auxiliary have worked steadily to establish a fund so that money will always be available to supply food, clothing, medical and dental care for needy children in Carmel. Though intended to help veterans' families, the Auxiliary fund has never been restricted to that purpose. Last year certain school children—and they were not veterans' children—were in need of hot lunches, extra milk, orange juice, vitamin pills. The Legion Auxiliary provided the money to supply these needs.

A child needed glasses. Its parents were unable to buy them. The Auxiliary saw to it that the glasses were provided.

They have sent children to Girl Scout camp, bought Brownie uniforms—small things, but big to a child.

Never have their funds been reserved for their own pet charities. They have no "pet" charities. The Red Cross finds them willing to co-operate, especially at Thanksgiving and Christmas when they make available their surplus money to assure that the holidays will be happy in homes that might otherwise have little enough reason to rejoice.

They have worked quietly and consistently over a period of years, raising money through card parties and fashion shows at first, then through the Telfer Readings which have become an institution in the town, providing excellent entertainment and assuring the continuation of a charitable work the extent of which many of us are not aware, because in the true spirit of charity, the women of the Auxiliary prefer to do their work without credit and fanfare.

RUBBER BATTLESHIPS

When you can't get that tire because you aren't a physician, surgeon, visiting nurse or veterinarian, because you don't carry the mail or own an ambulance or a vehicle used to extinguish a fire, or a truck used to deliver ice and fuel; when you can't get a new tire because you are just Joe Ordinary who wants to go Sunday driving, and the tire rationing board isn't lending a sympathetic ear to just Joe Ordinary in these trying times; when you have to walk for your Sunday outing instead of ride, and the kid says, "How come you're walking Pop? How come? Do you think you can stand up under it, Pop? I mean the walking? Do you think you can take it?"

You tell the sprout this:

"I am walking because the tire I didn't buy is one of the 17,000 tires the equivalent of which rubber goes into the construction of a battleship. And don't ask me what they do with that much rubber constructing a battleship. Nor how they use the equivalent of 124 tires in the construction of a 28 ton tank that doesn't use tires at all, or where the equivalent in rubber of 260 tires goes into the construction of a ten ton military pontoon bridge, but wherever it goes, right now it's going to a better place than it would go on the wheels of our car."

CONTROL CENTER NOW ESTABLISHED

Let that phone alone after the black out signal sounds. Look to your block warden for help, or better yet, help yourself if you are able.

Why? Here is one reason—

If or when trouble comes, lines will be overloaded with official calls to and from Control Center.

What is Control Center?

It's the nerve center of the whole works. In Carmel it is now established along lines laid down by War Department.

How does it work and what does it do?

When the siren shrieks blackout alarm, Mayor Keith Evans, Chief of Police Roy Fraties, Head Warden Malcolm Tarpey, Red Cross Chief Dr. Taubles, Fire Department and Street Department representatives, and men from Water, Telephone and PG&E sit down in Carmel Center, with open line phones at hand, maps and other data before them. Trouble Shooter Floyd Adams, precinct and block wardens are in the field; Red Cross heads and First Aid workers gather at already predetermined points. So do Firemen and auxiliary firemen. Auxiliary Police patrol the town.

If one of these finds a broken high tension line or a casualty, he phones Control Center. His call goes to the man in charge of the caller's unit—such as wardens or Red Cross. That man immediately hands Mayor Evans a slip setting out the proposed aid to be sent. Evans authorizes this slip to prevent duplications of efforts. Aid is notified by phone within half a minute of the call's reception.

If you importune Central for a number because a bomb dropped in your yard, you may gum up the works. That's one reason why your block warden will visit you soon and instruct you how to help yourself. If you're physically incapacitated, he'll have a neighbor keeping an eye on your place.

MAYOR FORMS ADVISORY COUNCIL

Without fuss or feathers, Mayor Kleth Evans established an Advisory Council for Civilian Defense at a meeting in the City Hall last Thursday evening. This council will meet at the Mayor's from time to time and will discuss new phases of the program as these arise.

Besides the Mayor, the following were present: Dr. Taubles, Red Cross; Fred McIndoe, American Legion; Ed Ewig, Business Association; Alan Campbell and Mrs. Cedric Rowntree, Civilian Defense; Otto Bardarson, Public Schools and a Boy Scout representative.

Interesting side light in Thursday evening's meeting was furnished by Dr. Taubles in a description of Red Cross Coordination.

YOU WILL GET YOUR CHANCE, TOO

Ever stop to think how much this page cost someone? And who pays for it?

Every month the figure amounts to quite a bit. The owners of the Pine Cone, are footing the bills for linotype operator, composing room foreman, etc. They do it as a public service.

Others are kicking in for other purposes in Civilian Defense. Some give time and work. As, for instance, Block and Precinct Wardens, Auxiliary Police, Red Cross and Ground Observation Watchers—and there's a dreary job! We could list 400 citizens of this community who will have reason to be proud when Duration is ended, they'll feel comfortable because they did what they could.

Maybe you are one of those who can't serve for one reason or another. You ought to get the chance. It will be offered you pretty soon. A chance to contribute all you can possibly spare to keep the machinery rolling.

LEAVE NO UNATTENDED LIGHTS BURNING

Do you keep a beacon going to guide Jap planes?

Some persons in this community do. Eight of them were warned last week by auxiliary police who inspected the residence district between Ocean and Santa Lucia; San Carlos and Scenic Road for unattended lights.

On pro rata basis that would indicate about twenty jap lamps blazing in Carmel and environs. Enforcement of the county wide ordinance specifying fine and/or imprisonment for offenders began when Captain Paul Stoney and ten auxiliary cops combed down precincts one and two. In Carmel it will continue from now on. Very shortly warnings will be supplanted by citations. A citation means a talk with Police Judge Ross, who will probably be hard boiled.

GET YOUR SAND FOR BOMBS

M. J. Murphy Company cooperated very nicely with Civilian Defense last week and furnished sand for quenching incendiary bombs at a nominal price. City of Carmel trucks are laying sand piles, available and free to all householders, at two or three central points in every precinct, including outlying areas. Ask your block warden how to use it in case a thermite bomb drops in on you some evening. He has already gotten preliminary instructions, given out by U. S. Army officers from Edgewood Arsenal via Policeman Frank Hay, ex-Fire Chief Bob Leidig and Fire Captain Paul Mercurio. You will be surprised to learn how simple and easy it is. Incidentally make it a point to look up your block warden in case he hasn't visited you. It may be handy to know him better.

PLEASE HELP US FUNCTION

If you happen to be one of the many Carmelites promoting some form of evening entertainment—anything from a dinner party to a symphony concert—you can help home defense during the next few weeks. Just phone 1924-W. Ask for information desk. Tell them your prospective date and find out whether it conflicts with Warden classes—or forums for public education in Home Defense.

These classes may keep on for a month. By then and by no other means, Precinct and Block Wardens are learning how to help you protect yourselves and your homes. This information they will pass along to you. Please don't expect them as guests or audience members until the intensive schooling is over.

GOOD FORUM TONIGHT

Robert Leidig, ex-chief of Carmel's Fire Department, and Fire-Captain Paul Mercurio are back from the Civilian Defense School at Stanford University, reinforcing Officer Frank Hay, another alumnus, in teaching Precinct and Block Wardens. Classes continue at Sunset School, four evenings every week.

By this time your block warden has probably visited you, and re-tailed some of the instruction already given him. Later he will pay more calls and add to your information.

Leidig and Mercurio conduct a Public Forum in the auditorium of Sunset School under auspices of Adult Education this evening, Friday, March 27. If you want to know more about incendiary bombs and other Jap devices, you'll get plenty along with a good motion picture, by attending.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

Main purpose of Civilian Defense—so, says the War Department—is to make you and me able to look out for ourselves without calling for help. That means education. Education means information.

Hence the Information Desk, now established in Civilian Defense office, Phone number 1924-w.

Eleanor Ellis, for fourteen years connected with one of America's largest National Advertising agencies, handles this desk. Her title

They will criticize the results at their April meeting and then submit a portion of them to the public.

In a delightfully simple wedding, Jeanne Randol and David Hagemeyer were married at St. Paul's Cathedral in Los Angeles Saturday.

Only the immediate families of the young people attended the ceremony which took place at 6 in the afternoon.

The bride was attended by Miss Ayleen Bruderlin of Los Angeles, and Cole Weston, son of Edward Weston, performed the offices of best man.

The wedding reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. John A. Comstock of Los Angeles. And afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Hagemeyer departed for a short honeymoon in Del Mar. They will live in Los Angeles.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Francis V. Randol of Carmel and Mr. Hagemeyer is the son of Mrs. Hurd Comstock and the nephew of Johan Hagemeyer.

Warners Showered—

Golden gifts poured in upon the Ed Warners by the score last week as they celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary. There were golden vases, golden iris and even boxes of yellow soap. Out of town friends sent "Dad" and Mrs. Warner a basketful of telegrams.

A hundred guests called at the open house the former Carmelites held March 18 at their home on Park avenue, Oak Grove.

The couple lived in Carmel for twelve years during which time "Dad" Warner was a volunteer fireman and, with the late Charles Guth, started the Carmel Pistol Club.

In token of their lasting remembrance, Carmel's street and fire departments joined in giving the Warners a handsome radio on their anniversary.

Mrs. Charles Askew wrote a poem for the occasion which she read during the reception. It was enthusiastically received as was also the impersonation by Mrs. Natalie Warrington of an humorous Irish character.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner were assisted in receiving their many guests by Mrs. Lulu Barron, Mrs. Warner's sister who came down from Clearwater, Washington; R. J. Barron of Kirkland, Washington, a nephew; Roger Warner, a nephew of Mr. Warner; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde O. Wyant of Napa, brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. Warner; and Mrs. L. V. Zahner of Monterey, another sister.

Miss Adaline Guth served the sizable anniversary cake.

Many Carmel people attended the celebration, among them Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Torres, Mr. and Mrs. William Askew, Dr. John R. Gray, "Doc" and Mrs. D. L. Staniford, David Machado, Mrs. Edith Prior Guth, Mr. and Mrs. James B. McGrury and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Askew.

As if this wasn't enough partying for one week, the next day Mrs. Warner was guest of honor at a reception given by the W. C. T. U.

March 19 marked Mrs. Warner's sixty-fifth anniversary in the organization. She joined the child-den's section at the age of five.

Her W. C. T. U. sisters presented Mrs. Warner with a set of silver. Another highlight of this celebration was the singing of a song telling in graphic words of the many horrors which can follow the consumption of fifty cents worth of beer.

Soroptimists Hear About Carmel

Shortly before their luncheon at the San Carlos Hotel Wednesday, Monterey Peninsula Soroptimists discovered their speaker of the day would not be able to appear.

They pounced on Elizabeth Cass, curator of the Carmel Art Gallery, who gave them a brisk and interesting talk about artists around town, like Henry Varnum Poor, Washowsky and Martin Baer, and also about the Gallery's new policy of holding public musicals on Friday evenings.

Another Seer—

One more fortune teller, a "vibratory analyst", arrived in Carmel this week. She is Ruth Dippell of San Francisco and Palm Springs. She is staying at the Carmel Inn.

Getsingers Migrate South—

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Getsinger are driving to La Jolla for Easter week, and with them are going two of Mr. Getsinger's fellow teachers, Miss Annie Edlen, whom they will drop off in Los Angeles, and Miss Mina Williamson, who will stop in San Diego.

Mrs. Karl Rendtorff Ill—

Friends of Mrs. Karl Rendtorff will be sorry to hear that she is ill at her home on Camino Real. She is, however, reported improved since the first of the week.

Matthews on the Desert—

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Matthews have gone to Arizona for an indefinite stay.

Katie Martin Plays Hostess—

Tuesday evening Katie Vosburg Martin invited in two of her friends, Helen Stoshitch and Roberta Smith, to help entertain a group of soldiers, buddies of her artist husband, Roy.

Reimers Take Over—

Mr. and Mrs. Niels Reimers have taken over management of the Carmel Inn and are giving it a spring painting.

Lieut. Knight, Senior Grade, Nautical Corps, California State Guard, who used to be Mr. Allen Knight of Carmel and used to rule over the comparatively modest domain of Monterey county, has been ceded a whole lot more territory.

He is now required to keep his eye on San Benito and Santa Cruz counties as well as all over the Peninsula.

A buffet luncheon will be served from 12 until 2 p. m. tomorrow as the chief feature of the bazaar to be given by the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints Church.

At almost equal interest will be a sewing table at which aprons and all kinds of other practical things for the kitchen will be sold. The bazaar will be held in the parish house with most of the women of the Auxiliary taking part. Miss Ethel Cook, president, is chairman.

Mrs. Carel Hulsewe and Mrs. P. H. Enslow will be assisted with the luncheon by Mrs. H. L. Robb, Miss Alice Cresson and Miss Helene Lehmann.

Mrs. Carl Rohr and Mrs. E. F. Kollmer will pour the coffee while Mrs. G. M. Burton serves, assisted by the Misses Peggy Ricker, Margaret Kollmer and Patricia Gorman. Mrs. Herbert Hooser will officiate in the kitchen.

The sewing table is to be presided over by Miss Cook, Mrs. Mary McIntyre and Miss Flora Stuart, and a table from which cakes and other edible delicacies will be sold will be in the charge of Mrs. George Wood, Mrs. Rush Wallace and Miss Mary Crawford.

Mrs. Leon Fisher will be stationed at the door and Mrs. Vera Peck Millis is publicity chairman. Tickets may be obtained from all members of the Auxiliary.

Gold Coast Troopers Score Big Hit In "Deserted at Altar" Melodrama Cast Comes Through In Fine Style

By MARION HOWES

It has become rather monotonous to report another hit from over the hill at the First Theatre. "The Troupers of the Gold Coast" seem to have a fool proof formula. The faces change, but hard work and enthusiasm on and behind the stage continue to produce a full house and loud laughter in front.

In "Deserted at the Altar," they have a vehicle containing all the tried and true ingredients of Melodrama—the innocent mountain girl, the brave boy she loves misused hero, the city slicker (an unusually dastardly one), the queen of the underworld, the old hag, the waif of the City Streets (two of them for good measure.) Let's see, did some one switch the infants in their cradles? Not this time, I guess. And I am, definitely sure there was no railroad train. But an alluring wharf rat makes his first appearance on this or any other stage and there is a danger of a fight as the grand climax of the action. Practically everybody gets to be in it at once, (no mean accomplishment on this minute stage) and the only two who are left out make up for it in the last act.

Experienced Cast

The cast consists of seasoned players. It is very well balanced and it would be difficult to pick favorites from it. I liked Dick Santa's playing of the part of the father as he managed to give it modulation and a touch of real feeling without being out of key with the stylization of the performance as a whole. Dick Boone is convincingly noble as the hero, and Jadwiga Babcock a winsome heroine. It is hard to remember that Dan Welty is really a nice guy after all and Wilma Bott continues to be so successfully vicious that she will probably never be allowed to speak a kind word on the stage again. David Hume is glib and expert in his part. Esther Gay gives an excellent performance as the mother.

Louise Welty gains in poise and good-looks with each new show. Jim Heisinger, Clare Chamberlain, Alma Santa, Allen Wyatt, Jean Humphrey—they are all good. There is a crispness and swing to the pantomime so particularly noticeable in Margaret Mather's small part that I suspect her influence is responsible for it.

Dobson Family Good

I am sure that it is she who is responsible for the professional excellence of the dancing in the Olio. There is such life and freedom of movement that one forgets the scanty space in which it is performed. Dick Boone is a worthy successor to an illustrious line of M. C's and has an ingratiating form of humor. I like "The Dobson Family", done entirely in pantomime, and hope that the number one attached to it on the program means that there will be more.

Sunset School News

Interest was added to the coming kite festival when the Stilwell family sent five Chinese kites to be put on display in the Sunset Library. The queerest one, a colorful centipede kite, has 49 segments and is 30 feet long. Its eyes roll in the wind. The pink and green water beetle with the movable eyes can be folded up box size. The red and gold bat is made of Chinese silk and the black hawk looks more like the real thing than any of the other kites. The rooster has every color of the rainbow.

Betty Bolton, Grade 7.

For many years now there has been no bell for the lower grades. But the war situation has changed that. A new bell will be installed. It will help the classes get out sooner in case of fire, air raid or evacuation. It is indeed, a great time saver!

Owen Greenan, Grade 6.

Yesterday we learned the Greek alphabet and everyone is writing Greek. As Owen Greenan said: "It's Greek to me!" Well, I can say the same. I wrote my mother a note in Greek and she was just as puzzled as I was when I first saw the Greek alphabet.

Roland van den Berg, Grade 6.

Many interesting statuettes have been made in our room. The "ivory" is really Ivory soap. We are studying Greek mythology and are making these carvings for a display. Some of the statuettes are Baby Mercury, done by Donalee Gravelle; Pan, by Yvonne Curry; the Dying Gaul, by Beck Bell; and I am making a head of Jupiter.

Dick Cox, Grade 6.

Every Tuesday and Thursday at 1 o'clock I go to homemaking and work on my Dumbo. He's a yellow gingham elephant with blue ears. I am making him for Judy, my cousin, to give her on her birthday.

Jeanne Frykland, Grade 5.

OUR TRIP TO THE MISSION

We found it very interesting at the Mission. The guide told us many things about Padre Serra. We went in a little room and saw some of the Padre's clothes. Then we went into the library, which is a museum. There were all kinds urers; and Mrs. F. W. Ten Winkel, chairman of publicity.

of tools and weapons. In the kitchen we saw an old copper bowl and an Indian stone.

Jerry Burbach, Grade 4.

We have 12 children who have started Victory gardens. That is one-third of our class. We have collected 50 cans for the P-T. A. too. They want them for plants to sell at their sale in May. Some people are going to make rock gardens, too.

Delora Sharpe, Grade 4.

COMMENTS FROM THE KINDERGARTEN

First boy: I went to my grandmother's and saw a cow being milked.

Second boy: How was it done?

First boy: You pull a thing and it makes a funny noise when the milk goes in the pan. The man sat down on a stool and the milk went into a pail.

Bystander: Once I saw a cow in a barn. It was white on the bottom and brown on the top. Its tail went—swish! The milk was white.

With a personnel of fifty-four students, business and professional men and women from Carmel, Monterey, Salinas, Watsonville, Pacific Grove, Soledad and San Jose, the orchestra gave a creditable performance and merit the encouragement and whole-hearted support of the entire community.

Plaudits go first to the men of the executive committee: Messrs F. R. Young, K. D. McKillop, Harold Bartlett, J. O. Hanlon, Lorell McCann, Robert Nagler, John Cirimele, and R. E. Manhire. These men, our public school teachers and supervisors, have given unselfishly of their time and talents to make possible the many rehearsals and training of the students.

Jaffrey Harris has again proven his ability to inspire and get amazing results from a group; not all professionals, but all eager to give of their talents, all eager for the inspiration which comes from the study of the masters.

Opening with the Russian and Ludmilla Overture by Glinka, they followed with Haydn's charming "Surprise Symphony." Mr. Carl Bensberg was guest soloist singing the lovely "Song to the Evening Star" from Tannhauser, and the first half of the program closed with a suite of five short numbers from Bizet's Opera "Carmen."

Tschaikowsky's "Romeo and Juliet Overture", Humperdinck's "Dream Music" from Hansel and Gretel, and Wagner's glorious March from "Die Meistersinger," comprised the second part of the program.

If the tempo in some of the numbers seemed a bit fast at times, the concert as a whole was a most enjoyable and delightful surprise to many who perhaps had not realized the extent of the splendid work being done in our public schools, and the fine talent available here, even after losing so many of our trained musicians to the armed forces of our country.

Carmel Donates Over 2000 Books

The Victory Book Drive has paused to take breath and tabulate its results. California produced 55,270 books, of which 2,143 came from Carmel. Miss Niles, director for this area, has sorted into fiction and non-fiction, old and new, and shipped this number of books. In addition there are 143 destined for the wives and children of defense workers in regions without adequate library service.

On behalf of the service men, Miss Niles wishes to thank all the people who contributed books and service to this cause. Space does not allow the printing of the names of all the individuals, but special mention should be made of the numerically large collections made at the Sunset and High Schools, under the drive of the Junior Red Cross, and of collections of 50 or more made by Mrs. Gladys Dixon and several private residents.

Of those contributing their services, Miss Niles wishes to thank particularly the Red Cross, the USO, the Red Cross Motor Corps, and M. J. Murphy, Inc. This last firm trucked one large shipment all the way to San Francisco, and the driver unloaded it there for the sake of his buddies.

New York headquarters report that 1,199,728 books had been made available for distribution to the armed forces by Feb. 22. Many of these were rushed aboard transports bound across the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. But this is not the end. Books will be accepted and distributed as long as the war continues. The goal set for next year is 10,000,000 books. Don't wait to be asked; bring books to the Carmel Library day after day, and as fast as Miss Niles has a shipment sorted and packed, it will be shipped to distribution headquarters.

Tigers Beat Shamrocks, Giants Upset Pilots

By beating the undefeated Pilots to the tune of 21 to 12 last Sunday at the Carmel High School field, the Giants moved into a tie for second place in the Abalone League. Masterful pitching by Ernie Morehouse held the Pilots to 20 hits, while the Giants connected with 32.

Tied for second place are the Tigers, who shellacked the Shamrocks in the opening game of the day by a score of 26 to 10. The first and fourth innings were especially hectic, in each of which the Tigers scored eight runs.

Next Sunday, March 29, the Pilots play the Tigers at 1:45, and the Shamrocks and Giants get together at 3 o'clock.

ization cooperating. There will be a new program of talks, with some new pictures, and a few of the first series of pictures repeated.
